

(H)appy learning

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that before smartphones existed, people who wanted to learn a new language by themselves used audio tapes? They played those while in the car, or while walking, and repeated what was being said on the tape. They were listening to podcasts before those even existed!

Learning apps can be useful to learn a new language. But can they teach you every aspect of a language? Do you think they could perform better on some aspects than a human teacher? Follow a couple of English lessons on the Duolingo app, then fill in the assessment form below.

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that the teams behind learning apps, like Duolingo and Babbel, hire linguists and teachers to make their lessons? This technically means that even if you're learning from an app, you're still (indirectly) learning from a teacher!

Duolingo teaches..	Not at all	Worse than a real teacher	The same as a real teacher	Better than a real teacher	Reason for our assessment
Vocabulary
Grammar
Listening
Speaking
Writing					