

Make that the cat wise

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that we are not the only ones who created our own version of English? Besides Dunglish there also exists Tenglish: a mixture of Thai and English.

The majority of the Dutch speaks English, but not always flawlessly. There is even a special name for the way in which Dutch people speak English: Dunglish. While speaking Dunglish doesn't say much about your intelligence, it can make people take you less seriously. Therefore it is important to learn to speak English correctly. Can you translate the Dunglish phrases below to correct English?

Phrase 1

In Dunglish: "Make that the cat wise."

In correct English: .....

Phrase 2

In Dunglish: "Go your gang."

In correct English: .....

Phrase 3

In Dunglish: "I fall with my nose in the butter."

In correct English: .....

Phrase 4

In Dunglish: "I do not want to fall with the door in house."

In correct English: .....

Phrase 5

In Dunglish: "I always get my sense."

In correct English: .....

Phrase 6

In Dunglish: "I see it through the fingers."

In correct English: _____

Phrase 7

In Dunglish: "I work myself an accident."

In correct English: _____

Phrase 8

In Dunglish: "What sits your hair nice today."

In correct English: _____

Phrase 9

In Dunglish: "We walk behind the facts on."

In correct English: _____

Phrase 10

In Dunglish: "There is nothing on the hand."

In correct English: _____

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that a female politician has made a big blunder by saying: "I have my first period"?